MODEL YACHT CONSTRUCTION AND SAILING - MADE CHEAP AND EASY! BY WAYNE RUSSELL PDF

Make your own real sailing model yacht - quick, cheap and simple (but full-featured) free sailing or radio control model, based on a bottle hull.

I sail regularly at a park and get lots of kids and their parents intrigued by my radio controlled model yacht. It fits in a briefcase and is assembled in minutes and sails all round the lake in strong breezes or zephyrs with the right sail.

"Where can I get one?", is the cry. When I say quality model shop yachts cost hundreds of dollars, and toy store ones don't sail well, they get discouraged.

So I decided to design a simple model with the following criteria:

- * conforms to an International Racing Class (Footy)
- * very easy to build
- * Strong, kid-proof construction
- * using easy to find free or cheap materials
- * quick construction using household tools
- * low maintenance, even in seawater
- * good sailing ability in a wide range of winds (350-500gm displacement)
- * unsinkable!
- * sail-able everywhere from a swimming pool to an estuary
- * multiple mast steps to suit many rigs
- * small enough to transport in a briefcase
- * demountable fin
- * quick assemble rig
- * auto-depowering sail
- * use any radio gear, or
- * can be free sailed
- * simple radio installation and controls
- * encourage young people to get back to making things
- * be fun to sail
- * look pretty cool!

This has been achieved!

Many kids (from 5 years) and their parents and youth groups have successfully made and sailed this innovative little yacht over the past three years. It has proved to be a very successful introduction to model yachting. I do not believe it is possible to make a simpler or less expensive yacht that sails as well!

step by step illustrated guide.

"I figured out your hull...ingenious...I will make a couple, it does look pretty good sailing. This design/method might be what is needed to get the class moving, my hat goes off to you sir. A nice blending of ideas"

Brett McCormack - class originator, modeller, yacht designer and competitive sailor.

fun summer project for the kids.

By Mud

Are the kids sitting around the house bored to death? Do you have a handful of cheap mini-servos laying around? This is the summer project for your entire family.

Reading time.

By Manny

Time to get a Footy and this one fits the bill for sailing in the city. Off to hunt for the perfect bottle.
